No. _____
 (To be supplied by the Clerk of the Court)

Eugene Orange
Petitioner	vs.
Hedgepeth, Warden K.V.S.P. State of California.
Respondent	E.G. Brown A.General.

INSTRUCTIONS—READ CAREFULLY

- If you are challenging an order of commitment or a criminal conviction and are filing this petition in the Superior Court, you should file it in the county that made the order.
- If you are challenging the conditions of your confinement and are filing this petition in the Superior Court, you should file it in the county in which you are confined.
- Read the entire form before answering any questions.
- This petition must be clearly handwritten in ink or typed. You should exercise care to make sure all answers are true and correct. Because the petition includes a verification, the making of a statement that you know is false may result in a conviction for perjury.
- Answer all applicable questions in the proper spaces. If you need additional space, add an extra page and indicate that your answer is "continued on additional page."
- If you are filing this petition in the Superior Court, you need file only the original unless local rules require additional copies. Many courts require more copies.
- If you are filing this petition in the Court of Appeal, file the original and four copies of the petition and, if separately bound, one copy of any supporting documents.
- If you are filing this petition in the California Supreme Court, file the original and ten copies of the petition and, if separately bound, two copies of any supporting documents.
- Notify the Clerk of the Court in writing if you change your address after filing your petition.
- In most cases, the law requires service of a copy of the petition on the district attorney, city attorney, or city prosecutor. See Penal Code section 1475 and Government Code section 72193. You may serve the copy by mail.

Approved by the Judicial Council of California for use under Rule 60 of the California Rules of Court [as amended effective January 1, 2005]. Subsequent amendments to Rule 60 may change the number of copies to be furnished to the Supreme Court and Court of Appeal.

Ground 1: State briefly the ground on which you base your claim for relief. For example, "the trial court imposed an illegal enhancement." (If you have additional grounds for relief, use a separate page for each ground. State ground 2 on page four. For additional grounds, make copies of page four and number the additional grounds in order.)

(1) INEFFECTIVE ASSISTANCE OF APPELLATE COUNSEL

(2) BOTH, TRIAL AND THE APPELLATE COURTS MADE JUDICIAL ERRORS...

BY ADMISSION OF INADMISSIBLE EVIDENCE... "Trial-Court".

BY FAILURE TO REVERSE SAID EVIDENCE..... "Appellate Court".

a. Supporting facts:

Tell your story briefly without citing cases or law. If you are challenging the legality of your conviction, describe the facts upon which your conviction is based. If necessary, attach additional pages. CAUTION: You must state facts, not conclusions. For example, if you are claiming incompetence of counsel you must state facts specifically setting forth what your attorney did or failed to do and how that affected your trial. Failure to allege sufficient facts will result in the denial of your petition. (See In re Swain (1949) 34 Cal.2d 300, 304.) A rule of thumb to follow is: who did exactly what to violate your rights at what time (when) or place (where). (If available, attach declarations, relevant records, transcripts, or other documents supporting your claim.)

pursuant to Rules 28 and 29, of the California Rules of Court, Petitioner Eugene Orange, Respectfully request that this Court Review this "Petition".
For two Issues, that was not raised in the "Original Habeas Corpus, for Supreme Court Review". Where Counsel removed one issue, intentionaally.
"An Admission of the Victim's Zeda, notes, to her Son and Friend.."

"And two.."

The Appellate Court's Judicial Error, must be submitted to the Supreme Court.. It cannot be submitted to a lower court, than it-self; for its Failure to Reverse, or remand the case to the Superior Court, for the Constitutional Violations resulting in the conviction... Petitioner ask that this High Court will grant review to the following two issues of law, so Petitioner will have reserved the right to Petition the United-States District Court. (O'Sullivan v. Boerckel (1999) 526 U-S-838, 842-843).

[119 S.c.t. 1728-144 L.Ed. 2d. (1).

b. Supporting cases, rules, or other authority (optional):

(Briefly discuss, or list by name and citation, the cases or other authorities that you think are relevant to your claim. If necessary, attach an extra page.)

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

"CLAIM ONE.. "

INEFFECTIVE ASSISTANCE OF TRIAL COUNSEL.

AND OR APPELLATE COUNSEL..

Petitioner, contends that his Appellate Counsel, failed to raise, and or include all issues priorly raised in the Appellate Court when he, counsel, filed petitioner Supreme Court review.. "Evidence, admitted during trial, from the alleged victim, Zeda, which was, Inadmissible evidence .. This evidence was lawfully excluded from admission, ; "alleged notes that ,Zeda, the alleged victim, had given to her Son, and Friend, prior to her death, stating the following..

1.) [In the first challenged note, dated June 3, 2003, Zeda apparently told Galbreath, that she was going with Orange to rent a truck and that if her son, had given Galbreath the note, this means that Zeda, had failed to return. Zead, also requested that Galbreath, be the executor of her estate and ensure that her sons receive the proceeds from her life insurance policies. ...]

2.) [In the second note, also dated June 3, 2003, directed Zeda's to give the other note to Galbreath if Zeda, failed to return.]

Petitioner contends, that the trial-court allowed these two notes to be admitted..Trial Counsel made proper objection to the records for purpose of appeal.. Appellate Counsel, failed to raise this issue on appeal, even after petitioner personally requested him /her to do so. This is then Ineffective Assistance of Appellate Counsel.. Violation of the Sixth Amendment to the United States Constitution.....

1 Take Judicial Notice:

2 1.) The court of Appeals, Identified this as a possible error;
 3 during trial.. noting although, that assuming the admission of 4 the notes, were error the notes did not prejudice Orange... However,
 5 this was an appealable issue, reserved at the trial level..By Counsel
 6 making objection.. The issue was not brought before this court for a
 7 review; Appellate counsel removed the issue without even telling (me)
 8 petitioner he was going to do this..

9 2.) Second note by the Appellate Court..

10 "WE HAVE IDENTIFIED "ONE POSSIBLE ERROR".
 11 That occured during trial; the admission
 12 (A). of Zeda's notes to her friend , and her son.

13 Yet, Appellate Counsel removed this issue, which may or may not 14 had been the element in the case to have resulted in reversal of 15 the case. . (It), should had been submitted to the Supreme Court
 16 for review, with the original Brief... for this reason, the court
 17 should review this issue in the interest of justice..

18 Petitioner, contends that if it had not been for this admission
 19 in the Superior Court in the first place, the results of the trial
 20 would had been different, and in petitioner's favor.. This evidence
 21 was "PREJUDICE".. If it had not been for this evidence, "NOTES"..
 22 Counsel would had been able to establish A REASONABLE DOUBT".. That 23 petitioner committed the alleged "MURDER". Appellate Counsel, failure
 24 to raise this issue on appeal to the Supreme Court, denied Petitioner
 25 a right to a full, and fair hearing, as is provided for by the "Sixth-
 26 Amendment to the United States Constitution..

27 - The error here also, raise, Federal Confrontation Clause Issees.

petitioner, contends that this "prejudice resulted, from This Error.. Pursuant to the standard set-forth in: (Chapman v. California, Supa,386-U-S-18;; under which reversal is required, unless, the court can say beyond a reasonable doubt, that the results would not have been more favorable in the absence of this error. Petitioner, therefore, moves this court to declare several Constitutional Violatons.... WHEREFORE, REMAND THIS CASE FOR RE TRIAL, , OR IN THE ALTERNATE REVERSE IT, IN THE INTEREST OF JUSTICE...

Strickland v Washington, 446-U-S-668;

Faretta v. California, 442-U-S-806-820. < _____

Crawford v Washington, 541-U-S-36..

And Citing the Sixth , and the Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution....

CLAIM TWO..

1.). THE APPELLATE COURT MADE JUDICIAL ERROR.

The Appellate Court, "ERRORED", when it resolved an issue based on inferences of facts... It, the court found based on theories which were never litigated.. ..

The introduction of notes allegedly given to the prosecution, were admitted into evidence, and allowed to be heard by the jury which had never been admitted during pre-liminary proceedings. This was "JUDICIAL ERROR, AND MISCONDUCT...During trial proceedings, The Appellate Court, then committed Reversalable Error, , when it, the court affirmed the trials court's conclusion. The Alleged notes should had been Suppressed.. They should never had been sub~~mitted into evidence. Petitioner, contends that raising an unrelated~~ claim, unlitigated, for the first time in trial, deprives petitioner of his right to a fair trial guaranteed by the Sixth Amendment to the United States Constitution.. Yet, the Appellate Court, -"Affirmed the Trial-Court's "ERROR".. This was evidence, that should had been suppressed.. The admission of this evidence, was "Prejudice", and it rendered the trial a Sham".. "FUNDAMENTALLY UNFAIR"..The results here are, "Due-Process, and "Equal Protection Violations of the Federal Constitution.... "

"The purpose of the Prosecution submitting those prejudice notes was to say to the jury, that petitioner was guilty, by "PROPENSITY" to commit the Murder. As stated in Claim One..

"On Appeal, the Appellate Court, Concluded"

[Even assuming the admission of the notes were in error, the notes did not, "PREJUDICE PETITIONER", and we concludes that petitioner received a fundamentally fair trial..]

Petitioner, disagree, the Appellate Court Errored..

A). Evidence Code 352 provides. The court in its discretion may exclude evidence If It's probative value is substantially outweighed by the probability that its admission will create substantial danger of undue prejudice. The admission of the notes were to show the jury that petitioner committed the alleged "Murder" because, Zeda, had given these notes to her Son, and Friend.. to say that, if anything happens to me, then Orange is the guilty party.. The admission of the notes outweighed the probative value, and should had never been admitted.. Those notes did infact prejudice the jury, and the results were petitioner not getting a fair trial.. Those notes "Posed "Risk" to the fairness of the proceedings, and the reliability of the outcome,. (People v Jablonski, (2006) 37 Cal. 4th, 774-805).

4 of 6.

Zeda, painted a picture with the notes, for future use by the prosecution, should anything happen to her.. This is Called. "Testimonial" Admission then was ERROR.. See: Crawford Supra., 541-U-S-at p. 52). This defines how "Testimonial Formulates. and then become an affidavit Here the prosecution submits , evidence of Zeda's notes, . Yet, (I), petitioner, was not given an opportunity to "Cross-Examine, the witness who gave them.. The court could not say that petitioner was the cause of the witness, non-attendance at trial, because, they would then have to say, petitioner killed Zeda... Preventing her attendance at trial; the very issue for the purpose of trial in the first place.

WHEREFORE: The Appellate Court Errored.. The Superior Court Errored, and Appellate Counsel was Ineffective in his defense, and all therefore causing the several constitutional violations..

For good cause shown, this High Court should grant review, and order this case reversed, remanded, and or vacated in the interest of justice,,, And grant what other reliefs the court deems proper and just to issue in this case...

maintain his privacy; and whether he was legitimately on the premises].) Therefore a search of the apartment at any time after midnight on July 31 would not have implicated Orange's constitutional rights. (Cf. Abel v. United States (1960) 362 U.S. 217, 241 [after defendant vacated hotel room, the hotel had the exclusive right to possession of the room and hotel management gave consent to a search].)

Because of the particular circumstances in this case, we can say with certainty that Zeda's body and the other evidence found in Orange's apartment would have been discovered sometime after July 31 if police had not found it when they entered the apartment without a warrant on that date. After July 31, police would have been able to lawfully enter the apartment and obtain the evidence at issue.¹⁷

F. The cumulative effect

Orange asserts that even if no single error requires reversal, the cumulative effect of the errors was prejudicial and requires reversal of the judgment. We have identified only one possible error that occurred at trial—the admission of Zeda's notes to her friend and sons. However, as we have discussed, even assuming the admission of the notes was ¹⁷ Although we need not determine whether exigent circumstances justified the warrantless entry into the apartment, we note that the detectives did not behave in a manner consistent with a belief that exigent circumstances existed, and the facts supporting the existence of an exigency are extremely weak. There is no evidence that anyone saw or heard anything that would indicate that Zeda might be inside Orange's apartment, or that if she were inside the apartment, she was in danger. There is little in this record that would explain why officers faced with these circumstances failed to take the steps necessary to obtain a search warrant prior to entering the apartment. It is simply a fortuity that the police conducted the warrantless search of Orange's apartment on the day on which he was to vacate the apartment, thereby relinquishing any reasonable expectation of privacy in the apartment.

(Chapman v. California (1967) 386 U.S. 18, 24.)¹³

In view of the strength of the prosecution's case against Orange, the significance of these two notes is negligible. Orange had a history of becoming angry with Zeda. Zeda had sought restraining orders against Orange due to her concern about what he might do to her. Zeda's body was found in the bed in a locked apartment she had shared with Orange. After Zeda's mother reported her missing, Orange was captured on video using Zeda's ATM card to withdraw money from her account, and sitting alone in Zeda's car, which she had taken with her to her new apartment. Orange fled his apartment and attempted to conceal his identity by using the social security card belonging to one of Zeda's sons.

Additionally, Galbreath testified—without objection—that Zeda had informed her about a week before the murder that she had taken out insurance policies on her own life, and told Galbreath where they were located. Zeda told Galbreath that "she was going to go out fighting," and asked Galbreath to "be strong" when Galbreath indicated that she did not want to hear Zeda "talk[ing] like that." The contents of Zeda's notes were thus merely cumulative to other evidence presented at trial.

¹³ Because the alleged error raises federal Confrontation Clause issues, we assess the prejudice resulting from the claimed error pursuant to the standards set forth in Chapman v. California, supra. 386 U.S. 18, under which reversal is required unless the court can say beyond a reasonable doubt that the result would not have been more favorable in the absence of the error.

error, the notes did not prejudice Orange. We conclude that Orange received a fundamentally fair trial.
